

The Swiss Helicopter Association congratulates

Swiss national Christian Müller is elected as new chairman of the European Helicopter Association

Bern/Cologne, November 19, 2021. The European Helicopter Association EHA has elected Swiss national Christian Müller as its new chairman and technical director. The EHA is the umbrella organization for the European helicopter industry. Müller advises aviation companies in various countries on regulatory requirements, safety and training. He serves on the board of the Swiss Helicopter Association.

Swiss aviation expert Christian Müller will be the new chairman of the European Helicopter Association. Müller is a helicopter flight instructor and internationally recognized expert on regulatory, safety and training issues. He is involved in national and international industry committees and has been particularly active in reducing the administrative burden for small and medium-sized companies. Since 2016, Christian Müller has been a board member of the organization Swiss Helicopter Association, which he represents in the EHA.

"The EHA and all its members may be pleased: Christian Müller is a personality of integrity with very great expertise and a strong practical orientation. Safety and the practical feasibility of legal regulations are important concerns for him," says National Councilor Martin Candinas, Chairman of the Swiss Helicopter Association (SHA). "The election of Christian Müller is a recognition of his know-how and the active role he has held as SHA representative in various European Committees. We congratulate him thoroughly!"

"I have set myself the goal of bringing together the different competences in the Vertical Lift sector of European aviation in the EHA and to make the EHA the leading European coordination center for this part of aviation," explains the newly elected EHA President Christian Müller.

In addition to his new role, Müller is CEO of the company NGFT (Next Generation Flight Training) in Cham (ZG). NGFT offers helicopter and aircraft operators systems and services to reduce the complexity of compliance in everyday work.

Christian Müller will take office on January 1, 2022. He succeeds Peter Moeller of Germany, who is retiring. Christian Müller will step down from his seat on the SHA Board of Directors at the end of 2021.
